From Your Pastor...

I have watched during the past 15 or so years as our intern ministry has developed. We have experienced the joy of seeing many of our young adults discover God's calling on their lives as a result of this ministry. And we have seen others who received clarity that local church vocation ministry may not be what they are called to, but are still engaged in ministry to children and/or youth. I think it is important for us to remember that the goals of the intern ministry are many. Yes, they help us administrate additional ministry "programs," but more importantly we are continuing in the Biblical model of discipling new leaders for the church (universal, not just CPBC). Please pray for our summer interns each day, because daily God is stretching and teaching them!

Each of you should receive a letter this week from our Architectural Fund Raising Committee, which has been working to present a plan for raising funds to complete the renovation of our current educational building. I believe they have a good plan...a plan that is right for us at this time and that will help us continue to look forward to a strong future of reaching out in mission to our community while still nurturing those in our midst. The Facility Update Committee is working diligently to present a "scaled down" proposal about additional new construction which will help us achieve our functional goals, while costing considerably less than originally proposed. Please read carefully, call if you have questions, and continue to pray!

Blessings and peace...

Ramon

A NOTE FROM MARY

...every skilled person to whom the Lord has given skill and ability to know how to carry out all the work of constructing the sanctuary are to do the work just as the Lord commanded –Exodus 36:1

I do get a little excited when I read about the construction of the tabernacle. As the construction takes place, it is pointed out that God gave the skills and talents necessary to build the tabernacle. He had skilled woodworkers, metalworkers, workers of fabric, and even musicians to play later in the completed sanctuary. The community was full of artists who were busy doing their work each day, but who were given the opportunity to use their skills for the glory of God.

God has also gifted College Park with artists, musicians, and skilled workers. We see examples of that as skills are used in ministry in Kentucky and our community. I want to let you know of another opportunity to share the artistic talents God has placed in our midst. In conjunction with our 60th Anniversary activities this October, we are going to have an art exhibition. I know that we have painters, photographers, seamstresses, musicians, poets, woodworkers, jewelers, potters, and other artists. We also have skilled crafters who use their talents making blankets, bears, quilts, and birdhouses for community ministries. We want to celebrate the giftedness God has placed within our congregation by giving all our artists an opportunity to share their talents with the congregation. In addition to those talents recognized as the fine arts, we want to include an exhibition of those crafts and skills used to minister to members of our community. I hesitate to give too much direction for fear of limiting or telling you what to create; however, I am praying that God will speak to those among you who are artists (and may not even consider yourselves as such) to inspire you to share those gifts to the glory of God as we celebrate His love and the community of believers from which He has called us to love and serve. More information on this opportunity is coming. I ask you to pray as to whether God might want you to share your talents in this way.

“History Highlight”

College Park faced an exciting, but certainly concerning, predicament in the middle of 1956. Sunday School and church membership had grown to the point that church facilities were crowded, so a second worship service was added at 8:40 on Sunday morning. A committee was already in place to study the possibility of expanding the church complex. One step toward providing more classroom space was to purchase nearby houses, such as the McCormick house shown in the above photo, and convert them to Sunday School departments. Equipped with kitchens, restrooms, and classrooms, these houses provided much-needed space for a growing church.

Important Information from our Properties Committee

Placing thermostats on HOLD causes the heat/air systems to run continuously until someone remembers to take them off HOLD. Please do not place thermostats on HOLD. They are programmed for regular church events and will come on and go off accordingly. You can simply adjust them by pressing the up or down arrows to set the needed temperature. They will stay at that level for 2 hours and then return to their normal programming.
