What does it look like to live out the ministry that Jesus has for you? That is the question I posed last Sunday. I don't know where you are in your journey as you ponder that question, but let me explain the question a little more in depth. After Stephanie and Lori shared about the Backpack ministry, several of you contacted me and were struggling with whether the ministries you were involved with were "big enough" to qualify as ministries. My answer to that question will always be something to the effect of, "if that is what God is calling you to, it is big in His eyes, and earthly measurements seldom accurately reflect the impact on God's Kingdom"...or something like that! You see, each one of us is gifted in different ways, but we can be assured that whatever ministry God calls us to, He has gifted us to carry out that ministry.

Remember, Romans 12:1...
Therefore, I urge you, brothers and sisters, in view of God's mercy, to offer your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and pleasing to God—this is your true and proper worship.

So, as we offer our bodies to God's service...no matter how big or small we think that may be, God accepts that as a pleasing offering!

If you are still uncertain how God wants to use you for the Kingdom, then spend time in prayer asking Him to make His will crystal clear for you. Then look for things that interest you and pursue possibilities. We serve a God of infinite possibilities, and I know He has some ways for you to serve no matter what your life circumstances may be...and I would love to hear about them!

Blessings and Peace!
Ramon
